

WINTER IN THE CITY

René Lacoste was a tennis champion who developed an exacting design philosophy learnt through his graceful playing style and life beyond the court, enjoying life in Paris with his wife Simone. The couple's adventures have informed Explateur's purposeful feel and precise design.

There's sophisticated appeal and laidback edge to Lacoste's newly introduced Explateur Calf which infuses classic inspiration with a contemporary, city-ready feel. The streamlined, calf-high cut takes its cues from winter-ready boots, forming a new go-to for casual yet polished styling.

Lacoste's signature bold white cupsole is imbued tennis authenticity and offers a pared-back contrast to the sophisticated navy leather finish. The style is elevated with embossed and etched lines - a clever nod to the graphics of a tennis court. Pair Explateur with minimalist tailoring to enhance sporting elegance.
